Wildlife Tracking at Camp Kent

(Program for Adults)

Join us at Camp Kent as we explore the trails, pines and open meadow in the quietest winter weather. We know the animals around here have some amazing adaptations, allowing them to make New England their home in even the harshest of seasons. The winter is an especially magical time to uncover clues that tell the stories of what these curious creatures do with their days. Let's look for signs, tracks, and any information that will help us discover the mysterious world of winter wildlife!

Saturday, January 9th 10:00am – 12:00pm

$10 per adult

Grades 1-4 - Thursday's 3:15-5:15PM - January 7-February 23 (no program Feb. 16)

Join Christine Amor, the Caretaker and Director of Camp Kent for some winter exploration and fun! Venture through the Battis Farm trails and Powow Conservation Area looking for tracks and other signs of wildlife. Enjoy some winter birding, snowshoeing, tracking and so much more! On an extra cold day, we will start a fire and make some hot chocolate or s'mores. Please come prepared with layers and proper gear for cold and sometimes wet weather!

Wilderness Adventures with the North Shore Nature Program

Grades 5-8 - Wednesday's 2:45-4:30PM - January 6 – February 17

With winter fast approaching, do you know how to prepare? What wild foods should you be collecting and where should you store them? Can you keep a fire going in a snow storm? Can you build a shelter that will keep you warm and dry? During this six-week session, with Andrew, the Director of NSNP, you will learn all of these skills and more while also developing confidence, independence, and leadership skills. This class is open to people who participated in the I Will Survive fall session as well as newcomers.
